Village Board Ups Liquor Licenses $50, Now $500

Plan to Reduce Taverns to Four or One to Every 300 Persons

New village trustees joined with the older members in their first board meeting Tuesday evening in one principal action, raising liquor license fees.

Tavern licenses were upped $50 to $500; class B package store license likewise saw a $50 increase to $400 and class B beer license fees will be $350 or $50 higher likewise. No change was made in the club license which will remain at $25.

The board made a provision for a reduction in the number of taverns from five to four in event of a dropping of a license or revocation through a calling for one tavern for every 300 persons.

The reduction of the number of taverns and the increase of fees was recommended by President George B. Bartlett and saw immediate action.

Licenses were granted to Ralph Thompson, Nielsen and Knickelbein, Russell Holtz, and C. E. Gaffey, but the renewal of Mrs. G. B. Blum's license was held up pending further information.

Mrs. Blum has lost her lease on the building at 926 Main st., and in her petition says she will occupy a part of the hotel building at Main and Orchard st. The question was raised as to a sufficient distance from the Methodist church and the zoning area, and these will be investigated along with the lease.

The question of reserved space for bus stops and parking took up the rest of the discussion time.

In acting on the licenses, the board sat as a committee of the whole. The board will be divided into committees at the next regular meeting which will be on May 13.

The old board met Monday evening, ordered a few bills paid and closed the books for the year.

Eighth Graders Guests Of High School Today

Eighth grade pupils of the Antioch area who will be freshmen in the high school here next year were given a preview of their high school life today as guests of the ATHS Student council.

The day started with a band concert followed by a trip through the school in which the council members explained the various classes and courses.

They were guests at a noon luncheon and this afternoon were to be guests of honor at the Grant-Palatine Antioch track and field meet.

The visit to the high school is expected to take the strangeness off the situation when they enter school next year according to Prin. T. R. Birkhead.

H. S. Teachers' Pay Upped $328 Average For Coming 1947-48

Antioch High school teachers will receive an average of $650 more for the coming year than called for by the September 1946 contracts, according to action taken by the board last night. The special meeting, called to settle the teacher salary question, was held at the high school.

T. R. Birkhead, principal of the school, explained that the teachers received an average "cost of living bonus" of $322 each this year over and above the contract prices for the year, and that this total amount together with the new $322 raise, would be included in the 1947-48 contracts as straight salary, making an over-all pay raise of an average $650 per year for each teacher, as compared to the 1946-47 contracts.

Busses to be Discussed
A meeting of the board next week will deal with the question of how to set up the school pupil transportation system which was approved by an overwhelming majority of the voters at a special election held March 29. Complete information concerning the possible leasing of equipment, letting the hauling on contract or the purchase of busses and the erection of a garage on the school property will be available, and the board members expect to reach a decision at the meeting.

Legion Auxiliary Poppy Day Set for Saturday, May 24

On the streets of Antioch, as well as throughout the United States, the little red memorial poppies will be sold on May 24th, by the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Frank Kennedy, president of the Antioch Unit.

Help and hope are being brought to thousands of Illinois disabled war veterans of both wars by the Auxiliary's program, Mrs. Kennedy explained. Thousands of disabled veterans are being given employment in the work. Poppies are being made for the Auxiliary by veterans in hospitals in every part of the country, including East Moline, Alton, Jacksonville, Elgin and Bartonville State hospitals; and the government hospitals at Dwight, Downey, Danville and Hines Center, in Illinois. More than 25,000,000 of these remembrance flowers, including 3,000,000 in Illinois, have been made during the winter and spring months for this annual sale.

Veterans are paid by the Auxiliary for their work as fast as the cut-out poppies are assembled. This money not only enables the disabled men to contribute to the support of their families, but also gives them the encouraging experience of being able to do productive work again. The work itself is valuable to them as occupational therapy.

The disabled veterans are the only paid workers in the Auxiliary's poppy program, said Mrs. Kennedy. The women who distribute the flowers on Poppy Day, for whatever price the purchaser wishes to contribute—and more workers can be used—serve as unpaid volunteers. All of the funds contributed go to The American Legion Auxiliary rehabilitation and child welfare work.

The Auxiliary also assists the disabled veteran by selling his other handicraft at the Veterans Craft Exchange, 30 West Washington Street, Chicago 2, which is the only shop of its kind in the country, operated without profit to the Auxiliary.

The local Unit is also sponsoring a poppy poster contest. Prizes for the winners are also offered by the state and national organizations of the Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Eileen Lewin, local Poppy chairman.

Rescue Squad Called But Not Needed in Near Drowning at Fox Lake

The Antioch Rescue Squad was called to Fox Lake Wednesday afternoon by a report of a near drowning, but found the "patient" recovered when they arrived.

They learned that a fisherman with too much liquid refreshments fell out of a boat at Stanton Point near the Viola resort, but that a companion had managed to hold him above water until help was obtained.

The ducking merely served to sober the fisherman whose main suffering was from cold wet clothing. Unable to get the Fox Lake squad at first, the people at Stanton Point called the Antioch squad, but the latter found the Fox Lake men on the job when they arrived.

Telephone Strike In Fourth Week; No Settlement

The strike of telephone operators is now in its fourth week and while there have been repeated efforts at settlement, nothing definite as a basis of settlement has been forthcoming, according to latest reports.

Requests of employees for raises have been met with refusals by the company on the basis of the desire for local settlement rather than nationwide.

In the meantime the people of Antioch are enduring the hardship of lack of service with patience and many are learning that they need the telephone less than they thought they did.

Picket lines still are in operation by the union and associated unions are extending financial aid to the strikers in some places.

It is anticipated that the strike will not last much longer owing to the great loss of income both to the company and the workers, but as yet both are determined to fight it out while the federal conciliators seek common grounds on which settlement can be made.

J. M. Littler, area manager for the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., said this afternoon that there were rumors to the effect that a settlement would be made today at 4 p. m., but that nothing definite had been learned here.

Emergency calls are being handled with dispatch here in Antioch and there have been no complaints of delay when emergency calls have been placed.

To Close Postoffice Wednesday Afternoons; List Unmailable Matter

Starting May 21, the Antioch postoffice will be closed on Wednesday afternoon, Postmaster Roy Kufalk announced yesterday.

The windows will be closed at noon and there will be no services the rest of the day, except that outgoing mail will be handled as usual, if placed in the mail box outside.

The closing of the postoffice for the half day is in line with the closing of other business places in Antioch for that afternoon.

Kufalk also announced that the postoffice department is desirous of keeping prohibited matter from the mails. He listed a representative of the types more commonly dealt with as unmailable:

1. Intoxicating beverages.
2. Inflammable matter such as matches, lighter fluid, and other articles likely to cause fire through absorption of moisture or self ignition through friction or spontaneous chemical changes.
3. Ammunitions and other explosives.
4. Firearms, such revolvers as are capable of being concealed on the person.
5. Obscene matter.
6. Poisons.
7. Narcotics.
8. Extortion letters and so-called chain letters.
9. Lottery and fraudulent matter.
10. Dunning cards and threatening letters.

The postal laws provide severe penalties for mailing the foregoing materials, and the postal employees may open all packages for investigation if they see fit.

Jones Wins High Jump And Pole Vault to Add to Relay Winnings

Antioch Township High school's track team marked up the greatest athletic honors for the school in many years when it won the class B division of the Palatine relays Saturday. Topping a field of 13 schools under 350 enrollment the Sequoits rolled up a total of 55 points, closely followed by Geneva with 50½.

In Dan Jones the Antioch team found its greatest scoring strength. He won the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 9¼ inches; and the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet 6 inches in the open events. L. Mattson took a second in the discus throw and K. Mattson a fifth in the broad jump.

The Sequoits scored heavily in every relay but two.

They won the 320-yard hurdle shuttle in 46 seconds, Mattson, Jones, Rigby and Osenbaugh forming the varsity team that carried away the honors.

The freshman-sophomore team composed of Ostrander, Radtke, Poulos, and Bodnarchuk did excellent work in taking second in the 440-yard relay just six-tenths second behind the winning Moosehart team, whose time was :48.2.

John Yucus' Truck Hit By Soo Line Freight

When the pickup truck of John Yucus, farmer of near Lake Villa stalled on the Soo line tracks at the crossing near Loon Lake at 5 p. m. Wednesday, it was struck by a freight train and badly damaged.

Yucus, the driver, was unhurt. The Lake Villa man, who was on his way home from Antioch, said the gears of the truck locked just as he got on the crossing. He tried to push the truck off the rails but was unable to do so, and then tried to flag down the train.

The locomotive dragged the truck for nearly one hundred feet.

The Student council of the Antioch Township High school is sponsoring a show at the Lake theater for Wednesday and Thursday, May 7 and 8.

The show is a double feature with the titles "The Falcon Adventure," and "High School Heel." They started selling tickets for the show yesterday. Their share of the profits will go to financing Eighth Grade day today.

Bass Season Closed Last Midnight Until June 15

The bass season closed in this area yesterday and will not open until June 15.

Livingston E. Osborne, state director of conservation in reminding fishermen of the closed season said:

"The fishermen of Illinois will find a substantial increase in the bass population of Illinois waters if the spawning bass are not molested during the short closed season and are allowed to care properly for their spawn."

Grass Fire Season Starts; Chief Vos Urges Extreme Care

Soo Line Refrigerator Cars Burn Monday in Fire At Morley Sub.

The annual trouble with grass fires was off to a flying start this week with three calls received on Saturday and one each on Monday and Tuesday. The fires on Saturday caused little damage, but the fire in Morley's Subdivision on Monday afternoon was responsible for a considerable loss to the Soo line railroad when two refrigerator cars were burned on the Wilmot gravel pit siding. A good many other cars were removed from the danger when officials of the railway sent an engine to pull the cars from the spur track, which is used for storage of damaged cars until they can be accommodated in the shops at Milwaukee.

R. D. Boyington, inspector of detectives for the Soo line was in Antioch making an inquiry into the cause of the fire. Vos said that persons responsible for the starting of grass fires were liable for any loss which might be sustained by others and that damages could be collected.

The call Tuesday evening was at Edgebrook Farm, route 173, one-half mile east of route 21. A small haystack was almost completely burned. There was no evidence as to how the fire started.

Chief Vos said that an appeal would be made to the heads of the various subdivisions, which surround the lakes, in order to enlist their aid in curbing the numerous grass fires which have been prevalent in other years. He also added that any persons who wilfully start a grass fire would be prosecuted, if discovered. Much of the fire department's time is spent in putting out fires of this type which are caused by carelessness or neglect on the part of persons living in the lakes region, he said.

County Board Awards Engineering Contract For Grass Lake Bridge

Cost of Span Across Channel Estimated This Time At $200,000

Engineers were assured another summer's outing in the Chain O' Lakes region when the Lake County board of supervisors awarded a contract for the planning and engineering of the Grass Lake bridge, calling for an expenditure of $4,000 plus four per cent of the total cost of construction to Alfred Benesh and Associates of Chicago.

The proposed bridge which has been "engineered" several times at a cost of thousands of dollars will cost approximately $200,000. When and if completed it will complete the Wadsworth cross-country highway, shortening the distance to the west side of the channel by 15 miles.

The board also appropriated $500 for counsel expenses for re-drafting the county zoning law.

Economic Highlights

When, a year or so ago, a few doubting Thomases gloomily intimated that the postwar production boom might not last indefinitely, they were greeted with angry opposition on all sides. Some of the government economists were especially vigorous in arguing that nothing even resembling a "recession" could be forecast, and that production would go on to new high plateau after new high plateau. This reasoning was based on the tremendous total of war savings in the possession of the people, and on the undeniable fact that practically everyone needed a long list of goods, ranging from clothes to homes, which had been unobtainable for years. It was further buttressed by the assumption that, after the backlog of orders had been made up, the American people would be accustomed to a higher standard of living and would continue buying in hitherto unprecedented amounts in order to sustain it.

That pleasant viewpoint has taken quite a beating lately. Even the government economists—with certain exceptions whose optimism, to judge by their public statements, remains undimmed—are talking cautiously of a "corrective" down-turn in production. And some experts are so certain that a recession is on the way that they have stopped considering whether it will or will not occur, and are guessing as to when it will come and how severe it will be.

The reasons for this attitude are easy enough to find. First, there has been a considerable decline in savings, because people have spent the money, wisely or otherwise, for non-durable goods, for luxuries, and for just plain living. Second, the savings held by the average family were never large enough, even had they been held intact, to buy very much. Third, a large segment of the public, whether it is right or wrong, thinks that prices are too high and is buying as little as possible. Fourth, there is a distinct possibility of more big-time labor disputes. Fifth, in many lines the production of goods at the factory is much greater than the sale of goods at retail—which means that inventories are piling up, and that distributors will pare their purchases. Sixth, increases of income on the part of most white-collar groups have been less than the increases in the cost of living—which simply means that their real purchasing power is less than it used to be, even though they get more dollars each payday.

Some very remarkable production levels have been reached. According to a United States News tabulation, production of electric washing machines is running almost double the prewar peak. Men's suit output is a little above prewar. Hosiery, automobile tires, automobiles and almost all other consumer articles are up by varying percentages. So are practically all industrial and construction materials. A number of items, despite the backlog, are already in oversupply. To quote the News, "A peacetime economy . . . is shown to be largely restored, after more than a year and a half of reconversion efforts. With production at flood-tide and demand for many goods slackening, the question remains as to when lower prices will be forced in order to lift the level of demand to the level of supply."

This is one way of saying that prices may have to adjust themselves to consumer buying power. And that presents many a problem, many a confusion, in itself. The recent arguments over manufacturing profits, spurred by some remarks made by President Truman at a press conference, indicate the difficulties. In some fields, notably women's wear, profits seem to be very high. In other, more basic fields, such as motors and steel, profits seem to be a long way from excessive. The CIO's contention that wages can again be substantially raised without increasing prices has been discredited by a great many economists, and the Nathan report on which it is based certainly employed some highly questionable statistics and interpretations. Improvements in the technology of production, plus increased worker output, would be a help, but nothing revolutionary can be seen in these directions. It is significant that most price reductions recently announced, such as those involving a few lines of automobiles, have been extremely small.

Both government and business are afraid of sharp drops in production, which would inevitably be followed by widespread unemployment, distress selling, and severe and uneconomic breaks in the price structure. This is the pattern that has always resulted in the severe depressions of the past. Very few economists say that this will necessarily happen in the foreseeable future. But almost all of the forecasters are much less bullish than they once were.

The general consensus is that some kind of an industrial slump will occur either this fall or winter, or next spring. Those are the most commonly mentioned dates, but the forecasters are hedged with "ifs" and "buts". In the meantime, reduced output in a number of lines can be expected to take place soon.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Patience, you know, is a great thing. I am on the subject on account I finally have a joinder on a subject I been gassin' about for years—signs, big ones, on State cars that are used at off-hours by the mamas or the off-shoots of public officials. It is a piece in the paper—the Sacramento Bee—that tells about my hero. He is the State Auditor, Mr. Vandegrift—he wants bright colors on all state cars, also the State seal. Now, if we can flush out some County, and City, and Govt. Auditors, and get them on the bandwagon, we will be able to see who it is that is driving around on free gas—and whether it is the Mayor himself on important business at the ball park, or if it is his wife, or who.

And delving further into patience, there is this Mr. DeMille. He has patience—he also does something about it. And his battle for freedom to work where you choose is not just his private battle alone—he is also pinch-hitting for a lot of us folks sittin' on the sidelines. The Labor Temple picked himself a wildcat when they pounced upon Cecil B.

Big labor, big Govt., big taxes, they are not adding to our tranquility—they are doing vice-versa. And before closing this essay, there is another gent deserving 3 cheers—it is this young U. S. Senator Cain from Washington state. That young fellow says he was not sent to Wash. D. C. to help loot the treasury for the exclusive benefit of his own state. Imagine!

Yours with the low down,

Buddhist Holiday

Nearly 165,000,000 Buddhists, 8 per cent of the world's population, observe the day when Buddha left his home, the anniversary of his birth and the day when he attained to perfection and entered Nirvana. Some Buddhists celebrate Trut, the festival of the close of the year, with visiting and play-going. The new year is celebrated for three days, and other holidays occur throughout the year, with presents made of cakes of new rice being exchanged on the last day of June.

Cows Drink Freely

Cows drink more water and give more milk and butterfat when allowed to drink at will. In a test where cows were allowed to drink at will they drank approximately 18 per cent more water and yielded nearly 11 per cent more butterfat than they did when they were watered but twice a day. When the cows had water easily accessible, each of them drank on an average about 10 times in 24 hours. About two-thirds of the water was consumed between 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. and the other third during the night.

Monkey Economical

The monkey will not pull a banana from a tree until he intends to make use of it.

Because of poor milling, shipping and cooking practices, Chinese rice is of inferior quality.

Uncle Sam Says

Have you stopped to think that you are a Minute Man, 1947 model, when you invest in United States Savings Bonds? The first shots in defense of your security were fired on April 19, 1975, on Concord bridge in Massachusetts. Today you stand guard over your security not with bullets but with your Savings Bonds which in the years to come will make your home the fortress it should be against financial distress. Equally important to you is the fact that your growing stack of Savings Bonds is available for attainment of personal or family goals such as a new home or education for your children. Every dollar you invest in Savings Bonds is backed by the United States Government. Savings Bonds are safe, sure, profitable—$1 for every $3 invested 10 years hence. U. S. Treasury Department

Whale Oil

Whale oil from blubber is a fat, and goes into many industrial uses, especially soap. The fine waxly oil from the head of the sperm whale, spermaceti, is especially valued as a non-gumming lubricant.

Reseal Boxes

Paper boxes containing spices, raisins, etc., can be resealed easily by using adhesive tape to hold the flap down. This keeps air out, and helps retain the freshness of the boxes' contents.

Jap Land Area

The area of Japan proper, including the islands of Honshu, Shikoku, Kyushu and Hokkaido, is less than the state of California. The islands cover 147,707 square miles.

Order Trackless Trolleys

Orders for new trackless trolley coaches placed during the past 12 months total more than the entire production of the industry for 12 years before the war.

Stage Macbeth Dies Of Wound By 'MacDuff'

OLDHAM, ENGLAND. — Harold Norman, who played the title role in the Oldham repertory theater production of the Shakespearean tragedy Macbeth, died from a dagger wound. He was stabbed accidentally three weeks previously in a stage fight by Antony Oakley, who played the role of MacDuff.

Skeleton in Sewer Pipe in Buried Town

Pot of Gold Under Streets of a Canadian Village.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. — The pot of gold isn't at the end of the rainbow in British Columbia—it's under the streets of New Westminster along with a newspaper office, the remains of a sawmill and a skeleton stuck in a sewer pipe. In the days of the gold rush two deep ravines ran through the middle of the town, forming a valley in which many buildings were located. After the "great fire of 1896," which leveled much of the business district, the valley was filled in and the town rebuilt on top of it.

But they neglected to remove from the ravines many objects which have since become increasingly valuable.

Fascinating glimpses of life before the fire are revealed whenever excavation are dug for new buildings, but to anyone think the best is yet to come.

There's the gold, for instance. Old timers swear that an Indian once hid a fortune in gold dust in a tunnel dug beneath what is now one of the main streets of the town.

Other residents remember stories of a bank clerk who became wedged in a sewer in one of the ravines and no one bothered to get him out. His skeleton is probably among the relics beneath the town.

Construction crews demolishing an old hotel recently uncovered several rooms which had been sealed for years. The rooms were completely furnished, but decayed tables and chairs crumbled at a touch.

A sawmill, cannery, newspaper office and blacksmith shop were among the buildings partially destroyed in the fire and later covered when the ravines were filled.

Tons of wrought iron and huge cedar logs, still in prime condition after 50 years, are known to be buried in the underground city.

Carbon Monoxide Fumes Are Fatal to Two While Asleep
SHARON, PA.—Mrs. Mary Jenkins, 43, of Farrell, and Arthur Sweetapple, 46, of Clintonville, were found dead of carbon monoxide fumes, Dr. J. W. Emery, Mercer county deputy coroner, reported. Dr. Emery issued a verdict of accidental death. He said the couple had turned the jet of a gas heater on full and while they slept the fumes killed them. Flames were found burning six inches above the stove.

Police said the woman was separated from her husband, Daniel, who lives in New Castle. A son, Woodrow, of Farrell, also survives. Sweetapple was unmarried.

Short Sojourn in Jail Ends

Woman's Yen for Prison Term
LOS ANGELES, CALIF. — Five days in jail changed Mrs. Marie Innes' mind about going to prison for from 1 to 10 years, she told the judge.

So she reversed herself and asked probation on a charge of false imprisonment, growing out of the 11-hour detention of Frances Olea Harte's, 22-year-old bookkeeper, whom she suspected of keeping company with her husband.

Mrs. Innes, 31, admitting the charge previously, asked that she be sent to prison to "get it over with." The judge obliged, but with the proviso that if she changed her mind he would entertain her probation request. It will be ruled upon later.

Tippler Loses Balance, Ends In Doghouse; Neighbors Help

BENNINGTON, VT.—A Bennington man reported he had a few beers at his favorite bar and went home.

Remembering he had not fed his hound dog, he prepared some chow and took it out to the doghouse. As he lifted up the roof of the hound's home, his feet slipped and he fell headlong into the doghouse. Then the roof banged shut.

Neighbors, hearing a rumpus, called police, and the dog's master was rescued 45 minutes later.

Fire Breaks Out Too Close; Volunteer Firemen Ask Help

WILMINGTON, DEL. — The volunteer fire company at nearby Elsmere was unable to handle a fire—the flames were too close.

A blaze broke out in the firehouse itself, wrecking the company's two pieces of apparatus, a hook and ladder truck and a new pumper. Heat from the flames touched off the fire siren and the steady shriek aroused the townsfolk. The fire was extinguished by Wilmington fire fighters.

First Boat Race Set for June 8; To Meet May 3rd

Tentative date for the first of a series of boat race meetings was set for June 8, at a meeting last Saturday evening at the Helvetia hotel, Fox Lake. The meeting was attended by the officers and committee heads of the Chain O' Lakes boat club, sponsors of the races on the local lakes. A schedule of seven or eight races will be set up, according to plans made at the meeting.

The first meeting of the club will be held this Saturday evening, May 3, also at the Helvetia hotel, Fox Lake. The meeting will be partly social in nature and wives and friends of members are invited. Entertainment will be furnished by Frank Velecky, program chairman of the club, and will include a talk and demonstration by two of America's foremost midget automobile racers, John Mayfield and Wesley Borden, of Waukegan. Both these men have held world's records for speed with the tiny cars, which weigh only about four pounds and are capable of speeds in excess of 120 miles per hour. They will have several of the cars on display, and their talk promises to be very interesting to boat racers, as the tiny, one-cylinder engines "turn up" more than 25,000 revolutions per minute, and have all the precision of a fine watch.

Officers of the club invite any persons who are interested in boating on the Chain O' Lakes to attend the meeting and become members of the club.
